

IEEE International Test Conference, India 2019
July 21-23, The Leela Palace, Bengaluru

It's the same time of the year, where DFT, Test and Reliability community comes together to share and learn. The best thing about any annual technical conference is that it is similar to last year but never the same. Every year, there is the Technical Program, Keynotes from Industry Leaders, Tutorials, Panel Discussion, Exhibition and more. To top it all, there are ample networking opportunities with partners, customers and colleagues. But each year is different, and I want to share what I see are the exciting updates to ITC India this year.

To start with, ITC India will be in "The Leela Palace" at Old Airport Road, Bengaluru. "The Leela Palace" continue to be one of the most admired hotels in Silicon Valley of India and I hope to see more participation this year. As always, there are honorable speakers for 5 keynotes across 2 days, to share their views on industry roadmap, challenges and advanced technologies.

There is something for everyone at ITC India, for a rewarding experience. For budding professional and students, there are Tutorials to choose from a variety of areas in VLSI testing and reliability. For experienced professionals, there is a 2 day technical program, covering latest challenges and solutions. A quick glance of paper submissions indicate a trend of Automotive, AI/ML, Security and Reliability. ITC India always enables a mix of topics and would continue to do so with engaging panel discussion, industry talks, booth/exhibits. There will be lots of networking opportunities over banquet dinner and breaks. There are dedicated sessions for students on career in VLSI Testing.

The IEEE 3rd ITC India conference will present a rich semiconductor ecosystem, with smartest minds from IP, EDA, Design, Test and Manufacturing community. I would look forward to maximize the opportunities to meet with Paper Presenters, Attendees, Review Committee and many others, to hear about conference feedback as well as learn about cool new technology that each is working on.

If you are still not sure whether to attend ITC India or not, look at 2018 conference summary. See you on July 21st 2019 at Leela for ITC India ! Bookmark ITC india for further details.
